German troops see the Soviet-union
Field post from the East

Wilhelm Limpert publishing house, Berlin
1941

First page:

A quote from Dr. Goebbels (“If the foreign propaganda accuses us of giving the German population a wrong or imperfect impression of the fights in the East, the best way to confute this is by showing the letters of our soldiers.”)

Chapters:

- I. German soldiers as king’s evidence against Bolshevism
- II. In the “Paradise of Workers”
- III. In the apartments and on the streets
- IV. Jews’ and Bigshots’ economy
- V. Bolshevik atrocities
- VI. Soldiers’ recipes for complainers
- VII. Former communists judge
- VIII. Germany – most beautiful home
- IX. Solder’s thanks to the Fuehrer
